

<sup>31</sup> When he [Judas] had gone out, Jesus said, "Now is the Son of Man glorified, and God is glorified in him. <sup>32</sup> If God is glorified in him, God will also glorify him in himself, and glorify him at once. <sup>33</sup> Little children, yet a little while I am with you. You will seek me, and just as I said to the Jews, so now I also say to you, 'Where I am going you cannot come.' <sup>34</sup> A new commandment I give to you, that you love one another: just as I have loved you, you also are to love one another. <sup>35</sup> By this all people will know that you are my disciples, if you have love for one another."

“It was a tense, tentative standoff, with White police, state troopers, and jailhouse officials, edgy and hostile, facing the gathered crowd of frightened but determined black kids, neighbors and friends of John Perkins. The police wouldn’t let me in to see him, and they kept trying to make us disperse, but none of us wanted to leave until we saw that John was all right. We stood out there in the dark, praying and crying, the air thick with the tension between love and hate.” ...

“Suddenly, John appeared at the window of the jailhouse and started to speak. A hush fell over the crowd as he spoke, and you could hear the pity and sadness in his voice. He said many things, but his words were not angry or rash or fearful. He spoke gently, trying to reach the hearts, not just the ears, of the people with a loving message of self-sacrificing gospel truth.

“I don’t know what it’s going to take for all this to come to an end,” said John. “If somebody has to suffer, I’m willing. And if somebody has to die, I’m ready.””
